Dive computer Wikipedia

A dive computer personal decompression computer or decompression meter is a device used by an underwater diver to measure the time and depth of a dive so that a safe ascent profile can be calculated and displayed so that the diver can avoid decompression sickness. Most dive computers use real time ambient pressure input to a decompression algorithm to indicate the remaining time to the no

Underwater diving Wikipedia

Underwater diving as a human activity is the practice of descending below the water's surface to interact with the environment. Immersion in water and exposure to high ambient pressure have physiological effects that limit the depths and duration possible in ambient pressure diving. Humans are not physiologically and anatomically well adapted to the environmental conditions of diving and
